It's time to show how YOU can help GLAD to perform better and extend its functionalities to become the reference tool for finding LCA data, everywhere. Join us on these dates to think and code together!

We're organising two sessions with an introduction to the technical structure of GLAD (Day 1), followed by another open forum for discussion and hands-on sessions with fellow software developers in order to

- Look at each component in a bit more detail and explain how it works
- Raise issues and opportunities
- Present the challenges ahead and discuss options how to solve them

If you are a developer or there are developers in your organization that can join us, please register today!
